Major Events and How these events impacted the stock price

1. The Massive Earnings Miss & Macro Guidance Shock

- Date: April 2023
- The Event: Infosys reported a surprise drop in its sequential revenue and gave a highly conservative revenue growth guidance of 4% to 7% for FY24 (compared to market expectations of over 10%). This was triggered by a sharp pullback in discretionary IT spending by US banking and tech clients.
- Stock Price Impact (Before vs. After): * Before: Trading comfortably near ₹1,428.
 - After: The stock crashed over 10% in a single day following the earnings announcement. It wiped out roughly ₹50,000 crore in market cap instantly, dragging the stock down to its previous multi-year lows near ₹1,215.

2. Record-Breaking ₹18,000 Crore Share Buyback

- Date: September 2025
- The Event: To defend its valuation and utilize its deep cash reserves, Infosys announced the largest share buyback program in its history: a ₹18,000 crore buyback via the tender offer route.
- The Catalyst: The company set the buyback price at ₹1,800 per share, which was a massive 19% premium over its prevailing market price.

- Stock Price Impact (Before vs. After):
 - Before: The stock had been a relative laggard, languishing around ₹1,509.
 - After: The announcement instantly injected confidence into the market, signaling management's strong belief that the stock was undervalued. The stock jumped 2% to 3% intraday immediately following the board approval and stabilized at higher valuation tiers during the tender rollout through November 2025.

3. The Global Tech/IT Sector Sell-off

- Date: February – March 2026
- The Event: A combination of stubborn global inflation, rising crude oil prices, and fears that the US Federal Reserve would keep interest rates "higher for longer" triggered a massive exodus from high-valuation IT stocks.
- Stock Price Impact (Before vs. After):
 - Before: The stock had hit a 52-week high of ₹1,728 in early February 2026.
 - After: Infosys suffered a punishing 21% crash in February alone—its steepest monthly decline in over a decade. The sell-off continued into mid-March 2026, when the stock breached its previous lows to hit a multi-year bottom of ₹1,215.15, dragging the company's total market capitalization below the psychologically important ₹5 trillion mark.

4. Q4 FY26 Earnings Recovery & AI Traction

- Date: April – May 2026
- The Event: Infosys posted a highly resilient Q4 FY26 scorecard, featuring a 21% YoY jump in net profit (₹8,501 crore) and a strong total large deal pipeline of $14.9 billion for the full fiscal year. CEO Salil Parekh highlighted that their enterprise Generative AI strategy (Infosys Topaz) was systematically winning market share.
- Stock Price Impact (Before vs. After):
 - Before: The stock was highly depressed, hovering near its 52-week low of ₹1,089 in mid-May.
 - After: The robust earnings performance and clarity on steady FY27 revenue guidance sparked strong value buying. The stock staged a sharp relief rally, gaining over 5.5% in just five sessions to push back up towards ₹1,190+ by late May.
